

Pro Bono Public Awards

Young Lawyer of the Year

Sam Noel

Sam broadcasts compassion and empathy to everyone he meets, regardless of their state in life,” Kevin O. Grange, head of Lowenstein Sandler’s Patent Office in Utah. “He has been instrumental in breathing life into our Pro Bono efforts here in Utah.”

The Law Firm winner, Bangerter, Frazier & Graff, of St. George, have facilitated the staffing of the “Talk to a Lawyer” free legal clinic at the Southern Utah Community Legal Center in St. George, Utah. Besides signing up for the twice-monthly clinic, three of the firm’s attorneys, Bill Frazier, Jake Graff and Lane Wood often took shifts when other attorneys had conflicts or emergencies. In one instance, Wood made a “house call” when the client couldn’t come to the Center due to a medical issue.
