

Simon Tam is an author, musician, activist, and troublemaker.

He is best known as the founder and bassist of The Slants, the world's first and only all-Asian American dance rock band. Simon has been a keynote speaker, performer, and presenter at over 1,200 events across four continents, including TEDx, SXSW (South by Southwest), and more law schools that most people can name. He has set a world record by appearing on the TEDx stage 13 times. His work has been highlighted in over 3,000 media features across 150 countries including The Daily Show with Trevor Noah, NPR, BBC, New York Times, and Rolling Stone.

He has received many accolades for his work, including: The Mark T. Banner award from the American Bar Association, the Hugh M Hefner First Amendment Award, Milestone Case of the Year from Managing IP Magazine, and the Lifetime Achievement Award from the Ovation Gala.

In 2019, he published his memoir, "Slanted: How an Asian American Troublemaker Took on the Supreme Court."
